Excerpts from TimberWolff

So gone are the warm summer days, and a happy good bye I say. This past summer was a bit warm for my taste, and I have anxiously awaited these gorgeous fall days we are seeing now. The Maple leaf color has come on strong, perhaps a little earlier than years past.

Driving down the Caribou Trail each morning on my daily commute is simply fantastic. Every day I count my blessings for being able to live in such a beautiful environment. I think that is why I like my job so much. Helping folks find their dream place in this country is so very very rewarding and enjoyable. So help make my day and come Up North and Admire the Leaf Color soon, because it won't last long! And while you are here, may as well check out some of the great bargain prices going on for land and cabins...and just like the leaves, the great prices are not going to last forever!
